A STORY OF BROTHERLY LOVE... OF BEER

(ROB WIDMER) J

K (KURT WIDMER)

1984 CONGRATULATIONS! IT'S A BREWERY.

Love of beer and years of home brewing experience convinced Kurt and Rob Widmer to turn their hobby into a vocation. With their lives' savings invested, they cobbled together a brewery from scavenged restaurant and dairy equipment. It wasn't pretty. But the beer more than made up for that.

Today, the brothers remain committed to brewing beer that people love as much as they do.

Thirty Years in the World of Beer

This year, All About Beer Magazine celebrates our 30th year in beer! As the leading beer magazine in America, we have invested three decades into building local beer communities and educating the public in beer quality and appreciation. This summer, we will publish a bonus commemorative issue reflecting on the magazine's role in the ever-evolving beer scene and the dramatic changes that have occurred since the 1970s.

The World Beer Festival, founded fourteen years ago, has been an important part of our mission. Since our first Raleigh festival in 2006, we have seen the beer community grow in strength, diversity and passion. We work hard to give our guests an outstanding beer selection and our supporting breweries the opportunity to meet their fans.

But it's not only the great range of beers that makes a great beer experience. A friendly atmosphere, home-grown food and entertainment, good companions and the opportunity to learn all enhance your experience—that is what you'll find here in Raleigh.

A few months ago, we spread the message beyond Tar Heel territory. In January, we launched our first festival in Columbia, SC. It was a huge success, reaching a lot of beer-fans thirsty for more great brews and beer knowledge. Next, we plan to bring the World Beer Festival to other beer-ready cities. Keep your eyes open: Durham, Raleigh, Columbia and beyond!

Cheers,

Daniel Bradford, Festival Producer

GET THE MOST OUT OF YOUR FESTIVAL

Welcome to the fourth World Beer Festival-Raleigh. With hundreds of beers here for you to sample, it is impossible to try them all. Here are some strategies to make the most of your experience.

Make a plan

Pick a theme to organize your tasting choice:

- Taste beers from one nation or region, e.g. Belgium, or the American South.
 - Select one style and compare examples from different breweries, e.g. India pale ales.
 - Taste a range of bitter beers: pale ales, India pale ales and German pilsners.
 - Taste a range of sweeter, malty beers: Scottish ales, German and Czech dark beers, porters and stouts.

How to taste beer

- First, look at the beer, and notice its color and head.
 - Next, smell the beer's aromas.
 - Taste the beer, and see how the flavor develops.
 - Talk over your impression with friends, or make notes.

Come to a “tutored tasting”

- Hear from an expert at the All About Beer Magazine booth every hour.

Smart habits

- In any sequence of beers, start with lighter flavors and move to heavier ones.
- Rinse your glass between samples.
- Feel free to experiment and pour out beers you don't like.
- Take a break every few samples to drink water, eat or relax.
- Know your limits, and stay safe.

AN INTRODUCTION TO BEER STYLES

The excitement surrounding beer these days is the discovery of lesser-known styles outside the mainstream. Here is just a handful:

Lager beers, the family of beers from the German and central European tradition, are clean and crisp:

- Pilsner. Aromatic, full of pleasantly bitter hop character, soft and quenching.
- Dunkel. Ruby brown in color; full of toffeeish, bready and caramelized notes; low on hop bitterness.
- Bock. Bocks, maibocks and doppelbocks are malty, sweet and strong, but also clean and refreshing.
- Schwarzbier. The darkest of the lager styles. Lightly roasty bitter chocolate flavor, balanced by drying bitterness.

Ale beers from Britain and Belgium, are fruitier than lagers, with more unusual secondary flavors:

- Pale ale. Golden amber to copper; bready, lightly caramel flavors balanced with aromatic bitterness.
- India pale ale. Similar to pale ale, but bigger in every respect, with a vigorous bitter finish.
- Scottish ales. Low in hop bitterness, the emphasis is on rich, substantial malted barley flavor, with a clean finish.
- Porter. Deep brown; toasty and chocolatey flavor. Hop bitterness varies.
- Stout. Deep, roasted flavor, a touch of burnt toast, chocolate and espresso.
- Belgian monastic-style ales dubble and triples. Strong in alcohol, fruity and spicy. Dubbels tend to be dark and rich; triples are higher in alcohol, but lighter in body.

Wheat ales use wheat in addition to barley as their grain base, which gives them a fresh, spritzy character.

- Belgian wit beer. Pale, almost milky, with aromas of spices, such as coriander and curaçao (bitter) orange peel. Silky and refreshing.
- Hefeweizen. Cloudy, with a handsome head, a German-style hefeweizen has notes of banana, clove and bubblegum.

BEER FLIGHTS

brought to you by All About Beer Magazine

Four hours and over 300 beers. Choices overwhelming? Stop by the All About Beer Magazine* booth 49 for a list of beer flights — beer circuits of the festival organized by theme.

The Hop Head's Delight

If you love the flavor of hops, here are some of the festival's bitterest brews.

Belgian and Belgian-style Beers

When it comes to beer, Belgium has the greatest range of styles and flavors. Taste Belgian originals and North American interpretations.

Regional Treats

Sample some great beers made by breweries in the region. Here are a dozen different beer styles presented by a dozen different breweries.

Not Afraid of the Dark

A selection of dark beer styles. From soft maltiness to burnt toast, dark beers are packed with flavor.

Culture Clash

Taste some original European styles and bold American interpretations.

You Put What in My Beer?

There's more to beer than barley, hops, yeast, and water.

Guta

Crucial Fiya contributes to the growing popularity of reggae music. Bassist Ralph Tafari has worked diligently to establish Crucial Fiya as one of the popular groups on the Raleigh/Durham reggae scene.

Guta is a band with the goods. They have been together for nine years and have the musicianship and skills to prove it! They draw on influences such as The Grateful Dead, Talking Heads, Phish and more!

Hot Politics is a retro-funk outfit from Greensboro, NC. Founded in 2006 the group has established itself throughout the Mid-Atlantic region and captivates crowds with their sound.

Stone Age Romeos specialize in getting the crowd dancing and interacting with the show. They are one of the premier 'party bands' in Raleigh with music spanning four decades.

Edge Case is an original acoustic rock band from the Raleigh area. Coming from diverse backgrounds, this three-piece group is sure to delight their audience with melodic, acoustic and electric grooves.

Brooks Wood has been writing and performing his own songs since the age of 14. Wood says, "I write about what I know, what I feel everyone experiences in their lives, what I think everyone can relate to – and hopefully what soothes even the sorest of souls."

LOWEST PRICES • INCREDIBLE SELECTION • GREAT SERVICE

Beer SUPERSTORE

Raleigh's Best Selection of Beer at North Carolina's Lowest Prices.

Total Wine & More is your Beer Superstore. We have one of the largest selections of beers in the Carolinas. We carry hundreds of beers from Europe – including many Belgians. No one can match our selection of Microbrews, including many local and regional favorites. Plus, we have more choices of Wheat and High Gravity Beers, Ciders, Citrus Brews, and Seasonal Beers than you will find anywhere.

Of course, you can always find your favorite Domestic Beers here, too. And if you're planning a party we always have cold kegs in stock in our walk-in Keg Room.

In addition to more than 1,000 types of beer, we also have more than 8,000 wines available!
